Supporting Chris and Kelsi Smith

As many of you are aware, Chris Smith has been diagnosed with stage four cancer. He has been undergoing treatments and has been out of work because of this terrible disease. In addition to Chris, Kelsi's is facing a major challenge related to her heart. Last week she went into the hospital with chest pains. They determined she had a heart attack and then had a second one while at the hospital. All this was caused by an abnormally tiny vein feeding her heart that is also mostly blocked. She is stable for the short term, but a long term solution is still being worked on. As a church, we want to come along side of them by helping them out with such things as medical bills and other financial obligations they have. We have decided to designate January's benevolent offering to the supporting the Smith's. Today, right after communion, we will be taking up our benevolent offering, which will go toward supporting this family.
